

Educational Award for Computer Science 2013

We congratulate Igor Kalkov for winning the Educational Award for Computer Science 2013 in the category "Best Assistant Teaching. Besides him, Paul Hänsch and Volker Kamin were also proposed as candidates by students. Hence, half of all nominees were members of the Embedded Software Laboratory. We very happy to receive such positive feedback for our lectures and courses.

The Educational Award for Computer Science 2013 in the category "Best Independent Teaching" was awarded to Dirk Thißen, who is with the Chair of Communication and Distributed Systems. Congratulations!

The Educational Awards of the Computer Science Group is awarded yearly by a student commission. This is the third time a member of the Embedded Software Laboratory has been awarded.
