Winter Colloquium 2022

From February 4 to February 11, 2019, the winter colloquium of the Chair of Computer Science 11 took place. The scientific staff presented and discussed their current research results in Kleinwalsertal, Austria. Furthermore, we discussed strategies for teaching and improvements of the internal information management. A creative break could be taken in a sportive way on the ski slopes or while hiking. Due to the currently ongoing pandemic, the colloquium was held in compliance with a strict hygiene concept. Not the entire staff was able to come to the Söllerhaus for the same reason. Nevertheless, all participants agreed that the meetings and the exchange on site were a great success and an important contribution to the normalization of the chair life.
